

Board to Hear Five Seeking Park Position

Interviews Set For Job as Lee's Assistant

The Public Parks and Recreation Commission will interview four park department employees and one other city resident tonight for the proposed post of assistant superintendent, according to Supt. Baldwin B. Lee.

The commission voted at its last meeting to establish the job. Lee said an official request to establish the position will be made to the Personnel Policy Board at its next meeting.

According to Commission Chairman William J. Kingston, Jr., the interviews are being held "in anticipation of PPB and City Council approval of the post."

Lee identified park department employees who will appear at tonight's meeting as James Denver, horticulture director; Thomas F. Coughlin, recreation director; and Henry A. Landis and Massimo D'Angelantonio, both district recreation supervisors. Lee declined to identify the applicant not employed by the Park Department.

The commission voted at its last meeting to limit applications to department employees and city residents. In making formal announcement that applications would be received, Kingston set city residence at "a minimum of six months."

Residence Is Factor
Lee said Monday night the six-month figure came from consultation with the PPB. He said the Civil Service Commission doesn't consider a person a resident of the community until he has lived there six months.

Kingston indicated Monday night, however, the commission may have second thoughts about restricting applicants to city residents if more do not apply.

"We could have interviewed for this position statewide," Kingston said. "We felt if we didn't give department employees and city residents preference for the position, we would receive many complaints."

Door Is Still Open
"It is pretty difficult, however, to select a man for a job like this from a small number of applicants," Kingston said. He said the commission will continue to accept applications and plans to hold interviews at future dates.

Lee said two additional persons, neither park department employees, have taken out applications and will be interviewed at a later time. Lee also said Philip Alcott, a former department employee, who earlier indicated interest in the post, indicated he is not interested in an interview and has not, to Lee's knowledge, taken out an application.

The commission will meet tonight in the Forest Park office at 7. Lee said the interviews, which are the first item on the agenda, will be conducted in executive session.

Lee said the commission will also consider the proposed job specifications for the post at the meeting in open session.

Warm Weather Returns to Area

Welcome warm weather that really felt like August finally reached the area Monday, but the U. S. Weather Bureau Station at Bradley Field said it could only promise residents of the area one more day of pleasant summer beach weather before rains come again.

Today will be mostly sunny and warm with the high temperature in the upper 80s, slightly below Monday's high of 90 degrees at the station, the weatherman said. City Yard reported that this city's high was 86 degrees at 3 p. m.

More cloud cover will be moving into Western New England tonight as a storm center now wer the Great Lakes moves east. Tonight's low will probably be in the 60s, the forecast said.

DAMP WEATHER AHEAD

The hot, humid weather will continue into Wednesday, but showers are likely as the storm activity reaches here, the bureau said.

Swarms of Flying Ants Cause Alarm, But Are Harmless

Heavy swarms of small flying ants throughout the city Monday, raised a concern among terrillo fearing residents.

Matthew Russell, president of the American Exterminating Co., said his company received many calls from persons who feared their homes were being infested with termites.

He said the insects were only harmless flying ants driven into the open by the sudden increase in humidity Monday. "Termites are about three times as large as these insects," Russell reported.

The flying ants are black and have two pairs of wings much like termites. However, their wings are of equal size, whereas one pair of termites' wings are much shorter than the other, according to Russell.

Girls Participate Vigorously in YMCA Leaders Class

Gymnastics and swimming were part of the program for the 95 girls in the YMCA Girl Leaders' School at Springfield College Monday. Warming up on the side horse is Pat Mitchell of the Holyoke YMCA. Her technique is being scrutinized by, left to right, Barbara Dean, also of Holyoke, Mary Sullivan and Debra Hare, both representing the Westfield YMCA.

Teaching beginners to swim is an important part of the volunteer leaders' tasks. Before a watching class, Ken Isherwood, instructor, left, is demonstrating proper methods to, left to right, Rosemary Ryan and Edna Hood, both of the Greenfield YMCA, Chris Lucasiewicz of Holyoke, and Karen Bulger of Westfield. Isherwood, from Westfield, R. I., is one of 20 instructors in the course.

Foul Weather Makes Fair Sailing for River Pilots

Foul weather made for fair had five inches of water in the boat.

Equipped With Sail
The boat was built by Goodchild and his father, Kent Goodchild. The trio equipped it with a sail and mast, oar locks and a 1 1/2 horsepower motor.

The boys were also troubled by rocks in the river. "On our trip back up the river, we sailed on the wrong side of a buoy and scraped against some rocks," Dowler said. "The engine stopped and we couldn't get it started, so we had to row back against the tide."

The trio anchored along the river's edge at several points and explored the area. "We climbed the cliffs, and once, we walked into a swarm of bees," according to Dowler. "The other two boys escaped, but I got stung," he said.

Camp Along Shore
The boys camped along the river shore and ate canned foods

WMEC Lineman Burned on Job in West Springfield

WEST SPRINGFIELD — A Western Mass. Electric Co. lineman suffered third-degree burns over half his body while working on high tension wires in Riverdale St. opposite LaBelle St. about 3 p. m. Monday, police said.

Joseph W. Neviers, Jr., 26, of 47 Southwick St., Agawam, was taken by police to Providence Hospital in Holyoke where his name was on the danger list.

cooked over a portable stove. They slept in sleeping bags. "Sunday night we slept in a tent, and around midnight it collapsed. So we slept on top of it under the stars," Dowler reported. "It was the most restful night we had."

TORQUAY, Eng. (UPI)—Irish playwright Sean O'Casey, 84, was convalescing at his home here Monday after spending a week in a nursing home with bronchitis.

Defense Communications Facility Is Dedicated

The first operational underground Emergency Broadcast System station in Massachusetts was put into operation Monday at radio station WHYN.

Teistar Conversation
Representatives from 101 towns in Western Massachusetts gathered at the station for the noon dedication ceremonies marking the dedication of the defense facility. The program was repeated at 4 p. m. for another group of dignitaries.

Highlights of the dedication ceremony was a two-way conversation beamed by way of the Teistar satellite at 12:26 p. m. between Hubert A. Schon, national Civil Defense deputy director at the Pentagon and Victor McDavitt, general defense coordinator for New England Tel. and Tel. Co. at the underground shelter.

Col. Schon congratulated WHYN on its achievement of being the first facility in the state to become part of the EBS system.

Robert Boulay, director of area four, Civil Defense, explained to guests the functional chain of command for the EBS. He reported, "At each level of command, there are many resources which will enable the system to function in times of emergency. When one level is unable to function adequately, the operations can be transferred to a higher level with ease and efficiency."

Boulay presented a mock broadcast from a mobile disaster control vehicle on display at the radio station. He demonstrated how regular broadcasting would be interrupted during an emergency and information relayed to the public.

In Vital Step
Richard Shephardson, local Civil Defense director, reported the underground facility was a vital step in the progressive planning of the Civil Defense agency.

Visitors were allowed to tour the underground shelter, which has facilities to maintain about 50 persons for two weeks if necessary. It also has the transmitting equipment to broadcast throughout the area.

Also available for inspection was the disaster control vehicle, recently built at a cost of $84,000. It is a self-sustained communication center housing 13 separate and complete radio stations for use in any disaster which may strike the state and in which coordinated control of disaster communications is vital to recovery.

Covers Four Agencies
The mobile center houses radio equipment for four state agencies: Public Safety, Department of Public Works, Department of Natural Resources and the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency.

Daniel J. Finn, director of Massachusetts Civil Defense, reported, "It's exceptional mobility will enable it to move quickly to the emergency situation and in a few minutes it can become completely operational, a factor which will save much valuable control towards recovery."

Generates Own Power
The mobile communications center generates its own electrical power to provide lighting, heat, air conditioning, ventilation, compressed air, refrigeration, heat for cooking, as well as supplying power for the 13 radio stations aboard.

Other persons participating in the program were: Charles N. DeRose, vice-president and general manager of WHYN; Zachary W. Land, assistant general manager and chairman of the planning program; Irving Robinson, chief engineer of the Yankee Network; Maj. Arthur Foley, Gov. Peabody's representative; and Laurie Cormier, director of region one, Civil Defense.

The Northampton Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, under the direction of MSGT. Richard Wylie and Chief Warrant Officer Joan Coady, were present to lend assistance to visitors.

Arab Physical Educators Arrive for SC Study

A husband and wife team of physical educators from the United Arab Republic are currently observing facilities at Springfield College as part of a nationwide tour of schools of physical education in this country.

Both Write Books
His wife is vice-dean of the High Institute of Physical Education for Women at Flemming, Alexandria. Each has written several books, and Mr. Osman land, Mr. Osman, with 30 years of experience in the teaching of physical education, has been Dean of the High Institute of Physical Education for Men at Abukir since 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman are here as participants in the Foreign Leaders Program sponsored by the State Department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Springfield College is the first stop on their tour following an orientation and discussion period with federal officials in Washington. Other stops will include New York, where they will observe the Olympic trials; San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, three colleges in Indiana, and then a conference in Miami, Fla., with other participants in the program. They will return to Washington, D. C. on Oct. 9 to prepare for their return home.

They expressed themselves as particularly pleased with the extent of the physical education program at Springfield College which they noted is one of the few institutions in the country which gives a doctoral degree.

They were particularly impressed specifically in physical education. They have been favorably impressed with this country and find Americans more quiet and friendly than they had expected. Mrs. Osman remarked that the United States through its films shown in other countries does not show its better side. She suggested that if educational films about the United States were made more readily available the people in her country might come to have a clearer picture of us.

Both of the Osmans speak excellent English as each studied for three years in Eng-

Notes on the Night Watch

Police Arrest City Man in Robbery, Assault Case

A young city man was held on open charges Monday in the beating and robbing of another man near Morgan and Dwight Sts. early Friday morning, police said.

The suspect was arrested at Main and Seventh Sts. about 2 p. m. Monday by Det. Lt. George E. Garvey and Det. Donald Cameron.

The victim, Robert Perkins of 31 Sachem St. told police Friday he had been beaten and robbed of $40 by two men in the Brightwood section early Friday morning.

Boy Is Injured

A 5-year-old boy suffered head and eye injuries when he was hit by a car as he was crossing Division St. shortly after 7 p. m. Monday, police said.

The boy, Kenneth E. Brown of 120 Clyde St., was taken in a cruiser to Springfield Hospital where he was treated and released. The driver was identified by police as Cando R. Bonilla of 226 Main St.

Bicyclist Hurt

A 13-year-old boy was injured when he fell from his bicycle after it came in contact with a car in Walnut St. about 2:45 p. m. Monday, according to police.

Daniel Williams of 11 Ivy Ct. was treated at Wesson Memorial Hospital for leg and ankle injuries and released. The boy's bicycle came in contact with a car driven by Desmond R. Callahan of 944 Wilbraham Rd., police said.

Youth Is Beaten

An 18-year-old youth was seriously injured when he was attacked by a gang of youths near John M. Duggan Junior High School late Monday, police said.

Lewis Newberry of 630 Parker St., East Longmeadow told Dets. Robert Hibbert and Nunzio Santaniello he, another youth and two girls were in a car near the school when youths in cars and on motor scooters drove up.

Newberry said he got out of the car to see what they wanted and he was hit with what looked like a tire iron. The youths fled.

Newberry was taken to Wesson Memorial Hospital by his friends where he was admitted for observation. A hospital spokesman said his condition was fair.

Faces Theft Count

An 18-year-old West Springfield youth was arrested here Monday and charged with the theft of golf balls from a local sporting goods store.

The youth James A. Ferrara of 345 Massachusetts Ave., West Springfield was taken into custody at about 12:45 p. m. at Main and Hampden Sts. He will be arraigned in District Court today, police said.

Driver Booked

A Weslover altman was arrested on Route 91 in Longmeadow Monday afternoon and charged with a pair of driving violations.

Victor Marsick, 19, of the 99th Armament and Electronics Maintenance Squadron at West- rict Court today on charges of speeding and operating a motor vehicle without a license, police said. He was taken into custody by Trooper James R. Hunter of the Russell State Police Barracks.

Auto Thrill Show To Open Fair

NORTHAMPTON — Two groups of auto thrill drivers will compete in a 1 1/2 hour, 20-event program for a championship trophy on the first day of the three county fair, which runs from Sept. 6 to Sept. 12.

Shows will be put on at 2:30 and 8 by the Indianapolis Hell Drivers and the Canadian Auto Drivemilts.

Highlights of the program will be a 65-foot dive bomber flight by Hell Drivers captain Hank Thompson, and a 100 ft. X, in which he will start off from a launching platform and zoom headon into two parked cars.

Seeks Brother

Charles Richardson, whose last known address was 80 Bowles St. in this city, was asked by police to call his brother, Alphonso, in McKeesport Pa., concerning a death in the family, police said Monday.

Record of Fires

MONDAY
12:53 a. m., Box 381, Columbus Ave. and Broad St., false.
12:58 a. m., Box 4651, Fisk and Abbe Aves., false.
10:44 a. m., telephone, 100 Sanderson St., false.
10:44 a. m., police radio, 72 Hampden St., I. O., emergency.
11:09 a. m., telephone, Sunrise Ter. and Lumac St., needless.
12:38 p. m., telephone, 750 Granby Rd., rubbish.
1:28 p. m., telephone and Box 813, rear of 208 Walnut St., garage.
1:50 p. m., still alarm, 71 Central St., needless.
2:28 p. m., Box 912, 252 Berkshire Ave., television set.
2:41 p. m., Box 216, Monsanto Chemical Co., I. O., trash barrel.
4:11 p. m., Box 732, Chesnut and Ringgold Sts., false.
4:16 p. m., still alarm, Oak St., I. O., emergency.
5:14 p. m., telephone, 133 Ferncliff Ave., needless.
5:26 p. m., Box 3413, Cortland and Moore Sts., false.
6:32 p. m., telephone, Box 7711, Armory School, false.
6:47 p. m., Box 4633, Riverview Apts., Division St., false.
8:23 p. m., Box 74, Chesnut and Prospect Sts., false.
11:10 p. m., still alarm, 173 Oakland St., auto.
11:16 p. m., Box 4633, Riverview Apts., false.
11:20 p. m., police radio, 59 Mobile Home Way, emergency.
TUESDAY
12:36 a. m., Box 6822, Plumtree and Old Brook Rds., false.

Telstar Message Relayed to New EBS Station

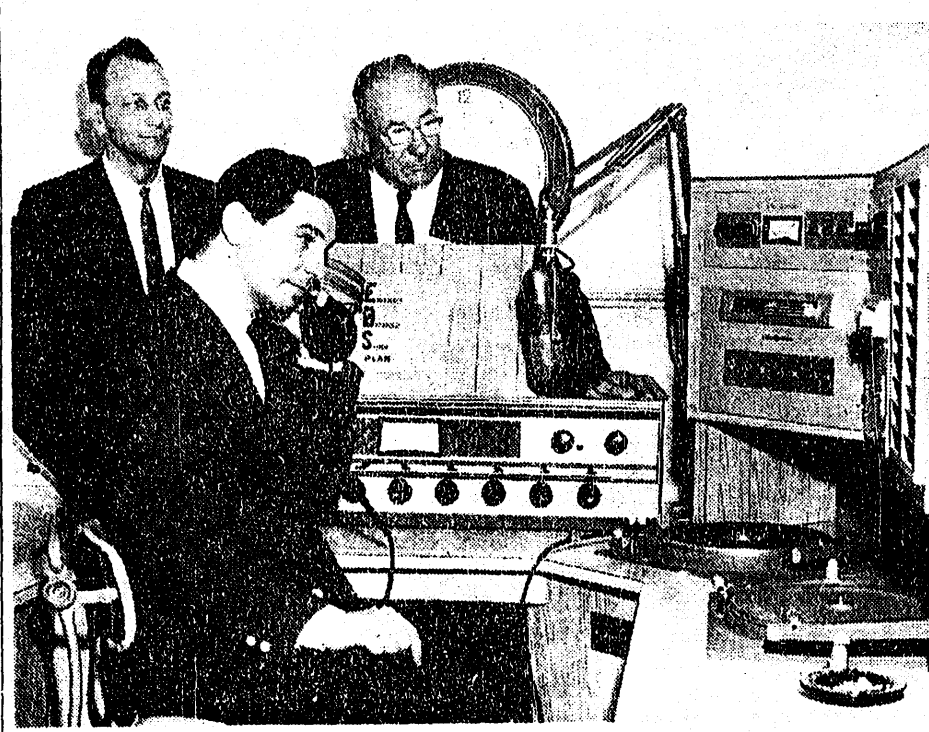

A message relayed by the Telstar satellite from Col. Hubert R. Schon, deputy director of the office of Civil Defense at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C. to radio station WHYN, high-lighted dedication ceremonies Monday of an underground Emergency Broadcast System at the local station for use in times of emergency. Looking over a full scale model of the satellite are: Robert J. Boulay of Chicopee, director of Civil Defense Area 4; Zachary W. Land of this city, assistant general manager of WHYN; Irving B. Robinson of Boston, regional chairman of the Industry Advisory Commission of the Federal Communications Commission, and Victor P. McDavitt of Boston, general defense coordinator of the telephone company.

A message relayed by the Telstar satellite from Col. Hubert R. Schon, deputy director of the office of Civil Defense at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C. to radio station WHYN, high-lighted dedication ceremonies Monday of an underground Emergency Broadcast System at the local station for use in times of emergency. Looking over a full scale model of the satellite are: Robert J. Boulay of Chicopee, director of Civil Defense Area 4; Zachary W. Land of this city, assistant general manager of WHYN; Irving B. Robinson of Boston, regional chairman of the Industry Advisory Commission of the Federal Communications Commission, and Victor P. McDavitt of Boston, general defense coordinator of the telephone company.

A message relayed by the Telstar satellite from Col. Hubert R. Schon, deputy director of the office of Civil Defense at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C. to radio station WHYN, high-lighted dedication ceremonies Monday of an underground Emergency Broadcast System at the local station for use in times of emergency. Looking over a full scale model of the satellite are: Robert J. Boulay of Chicopee, director of Civil Defense Area 4; Zachary W. Land of this city, assistant general manager of WHYN; Irving B. Robinson of Boston, regional chairman of the Industry Advisory Commission of the Federal Communications Commission, and Victor P. McDavitt of Boston, general defense coordinator of the telephone company.

Radio announcer Bud Stone demonstrates part of the operations of the underground Emergency Broadcast System at WHYN for Richard F. Shephardson, local director of Civil Defense and Charles N. DeRose, vice-president and general manager of WHYN. The underground facility which was dedicated Monday, is the first operational station of its type in Massachusetts. It is equipped to maintain 50 people for about two weeks, and can broadcast emergency information to all parts of Western Massachusetts.

Picketing Due To Continue at Trucking Firms

Picketing is scheduled to continue today in front of three Nursery St. trucking firms which were struck at midnight Sunday, until agreement is reached with the union, Carmin F. Napoli, president and business agent of Teamsters Local 404, said Monday.

The three firms, Yankee Motors, McCarthy Truck Co. and D. & S. Truck Leasing, Inc., were shut down Monday following a walkout by about 30 teamster-backed employees, Napoli said.

The dispute arose over the company's refusal to allow a "card check" of employees to determine if the teamsters represented a majority of the employees, Napoli said. About 95 percent of the employees had sent authorization cards to the union, and indicated that John E. McCarthy owned all the firms, he said. A fourth firm, MAC Transport Co., also reportedly owned by McCarthy, was mentioned on the authorization cards, he said.

A "card check" is a move whereby a union can become the bargaining agent for employees without a National Labor Relations Board election, Napoli said. "As about 95 percent of the employees have signed authorization cards asking the teamsters to represent them, we feel that asking for a check was warranted."

"Employees of these firms approached us earlier this month and asked us to represent them. In fact that they are now out in front picketing further strengthens our position. We are ready, willing and able to have McCarthy submit a payroll roster to an impartial person to check against our cards," Napoli said.

McCarthy was reported by company officials to be unavailable for comment Monday.

Girl Leaders Begin Training in 'Y' Class

Classes and practical exercises kept 95 participants in the YMCA Girl Leaders' School at Springfield College busy on the program's first day Monday.

The girls, from New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, are training for participation in women's and family activities of the YMCA.

Following a lecture session on human relations and self evaluation, Monday morning, the group split into sections for practice in teaching games of low organization, volleyball, badminton, use of advanced apparatus, and synchronized and competitive swimming. The afternoon session was devoted to gymnastics and aquatics.

Primary purpose of the 14 to 17-year-old volunteers is to learn to teach others in YMCA programs. The course will end after lunch Saturday.

At a banquet Friday night, an induction ceremony will introduce the young leaders into the spirit of YMCA fellowship.

Study Physical Education

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussein Rushdi Osman, both administrators of physical education institutes in the United Arab Republic, are visiting Springfield College as part of a national tour they are making under State Department auspices to observe physical education methods in this country. Dr. A. A. Kiddess, left, adviser to international students at the college, conducted them on a tour Monday afternoon.